Milk That Keeps Its Cream.—What

Vertical Limits.—Feeding Trees by Their Trunks.—Tires with Soft Filling.—A Train-Lining Clock.—
The Butter of Bogs.—Peat Gas.—A Novel Gas Mantle.

Milk on which cream failed to rise in a night has been condemned by a careful housekeeper, but on analysis proved to contain as much cream as milk from another dealer on which a thick layer formed. The former was a specimen of "homogenized milk," now produced by forcing the liquid at high pressure through fine jets, thus breaking up the fat globules. Milk is essentially an emulsion of 3½ per cent of fat in 88½ of water, with casein and other substances that have little to do with the separation of the fat as cream. The fat globules vary greatly in size—from 2510 to 15875 being required to make a row an inch long,—and it has been shown that, while the largest rise at a rate of a little more than half an inch an hour, the smallest ascend fifty times more slowly. In the "homogenized milk" the particles usually not larger than 1-25,000 of an inch in diameter, are too fine to reach the surface at all under usual conditions.

With a steam consumption of fifteen pounds per horse-power when the turbines are developing 65,000 horsepower, the boilers of the new Cunard steamship Lusitania, it is calculated will have to evaporate each hour 435 tons of water, which will require fifty tons of coal—or 1200 tons per day.
For an average trip of five days the consumption will be 6,000 tons. In this time the water evaporated will be 52,200 tons, and the weight of air required for the furnaces will be 81, 000 tons.

The geological survey's determination of the highest and lowest land in the United States is a fresh reminder of the smallness of the vertical range of the habitable globe.
These points are both in Southern California, only 15 miles apart, M.
Whitney reaching a foot or two over 14,500 feet above sea level, while Death Valley sinks 276 feet below the level.

In recent experiments the artificial feeding of trees through incisions in their trunks has given remarkable results in restoring health and vigor, and in saving valuable specimens whose roots had been so weakened by disease as to draw insufficient nourishment from the soil. The death of many apple trees on the estate of M.
Simon at Allaire, France, was traced to an affection of the rootlets. To treat diseased trees a tube was inserted through the bark of the stem to the layers having the sap-vessels, and liquid was supplied from a reservoir placed from three to five feet higher than the hole in the bark. An apple tree in bad condition absorbed a pint and a half of water in twenty-four hours, then two quarts of liquid fertilizer containing fifty grams of sulphate of potash in twelve days, and afterward dilute fertilizer including nitrate of potash. The treatment, begun early in March, was followed by vigorous spring growth, and by September new twigs were eight to ten inches long. Other results showed that apparently dying trees might be restored. An attempt to improve cabbages, cauliflowers and potatoes by the same process, using a ½ per cent solution of common salt, gave products of exceptional size and flavor.

Tests of the new English tires known as "elastes," indicate that a set will run at least 10,000 miles on a 24 horse-power automobile, and that they will reduce the expense for tires fully one-half. They are made by filling the ordinary covers of pneumatic tires with a heat-mixed composition of glue, glycerine and chromic salts. The material solidifies in a few days into a soft rubber, forming a cushion for all roads, and having entire immunity from puncture.

In a novel electric clock of the Piccadilly Tube, or subway, in London, the three-foot dial is divided into twelve sections of one minute each, and the single hand tells the motor-man how long the preceding train has been gone from the station.
As a train leaves the clock starts, and continues to move forward until the next train arrives. When this train goes out, the hand returns to starting point and begins anew.

Lumps of spermatic like material known as bog-bugs are found occasionally in peat-bogs, and specimens are preserved in various museums. A Earthquake Theories.

By Fayette Mace.

It is true there has been no time since the creation of the world when the subject of earthquakes could create a deeper interest than at the present time. I believe with Prof.
See that the bed of the ocean sinks at the time of an earthquake, which causes those great tidal waves, which threw the Spanish man-of-war into the hills above Acapulco and the U. S.
Steamship Water on the coast of Africa, and I believe with him that the coast line is invariably raised; but it always happens to the western coast. Now, I beg leave to offer other reasons for the facts which may differ with Prof. See.

I appreciate the compliment paid to Dr. Newton's discovery of gravitation in 1687; and I believe that discovery will explain the whole phenomenon, and yet Dr. Newton like Columbus, died and never knew that he had discovered a world.

I believe that many of the great mysteries of nature could be principally attributed to the cause of gravitation, such as the light and heat of the sun, the flow of the Gulf stream and Japanese current, the earthquake and the tidal wave. The gravitation of the sun and moon in their course around the earth has a tremendous pull on everything moveable or immovable. They attract an immense volume of water from the west coast of Africa and pile it up on the east coast of America. The south half follows those luminaries around Cape Horn; the north half is reservoired up in the Caribbean Sea and the Gulf of Mexico. Through the Gulf stream is the only way the waters have to get back to the coast of Africa. A bottle dropped in the Gulf stream has been known to find its way to the coast of Africa, and down the equator to the Caribbean Sea, and out again through the Gulf stream, thus forming the connecting link in a chain of evidence.

Now the molten matter under the crust of the earth is a liquid, and when unobstructed will follow the sun and moon the same as the tides do. Water will conduct heat faster from anything placed in it than anything else, consequently under the ocean has been cooled and hardened to a greater depth than under the land, thus under the eastern margin of the Pacific ocean there is a range of inverted mountains, which obstructs the flow of molten matter in its western course. The lifting attraction of the sun and moon raises the surface and makes room for this material. In time the strain becomes so great that the surface cracks with an upward motion. A countering strain somewhere under the sea causes another break with a downward motion, thus the great plank broken off, the shore edge rising, and the sea edge settling causes the earthquake and the tidal wave. That there is a continual flow of molten matter under the surface of the earth, and that in the downward break of the crust in an earthquake, large quantities of granite rock in fragments are precipitated into the molten matter below is proved by the fact that whenever an eruption occurs, the lava is filled with fragments of granite worn smooth and round by erosion, and it would not be strange under this theory, as Prof. See asserts that the mountains appear to be hollow.
They may be likened to a blister drawn under the skin; the material which fills the space is not so heavy as the skin above or the flesh below the boil. Then again how can we account for the eastern coast of America settling several inches every hundred years only from the fact that the missing matter has been drawn west by the attraction of the sun and moon, and has built up the Sierra Nevada and coast ranges of mountains, for the time will come when Boston, will go down and take its place by Atlantis at the bottom of the sea. The Farallones are ejected from the outside break in the crust of the earth and they will in turn become the coast range of mountains, and other Farallones will be thrown up beyond and so on to the Sandwich Islands. "But the world does move."

A little Kodol taken occasionally, especially after eating will relieve sour stomach, belching and heart-burns. "I am sure three one dollar bottles of your Kodol positively cured me of dyspepsia, and I can recommend it as that was three years ago and I haven't been bothered since with it." Kodol is guaranteed to give relief. Sold by F. W. Rubner.

FRIDAY, MAY 10, 1907

SAN FRANCISCO'S
INDUSTRIAL UPHEAVAL.

San Francisco is in the throes of a labor revolt that is apt to be more damaging to the welfare of the city than the earthquake and fire of last year. Some 20,000 tollers belonging to the labor unions of different callings are out on strike. The entire street car systems are tied up; the telephone system is also crippled by a walk-out of the "hello" girls, the metal and iron trades are at a standstill because of a shutdown by the employers in anticipation of a strike for shorter hours and more pay. The street car men voted to strike Saturday night, because the United Railroads refused to accede to the demands of the employees for eight hours and a flat rate of three dollars per day. This strike coming on the heels of an arbitration of the points in issue between the company and its employees, which resulted in giving the men a material increase in pay, and a substantial sum for back wages, was interpreted by the officials of the company that it was impossible to keep step to the demands of the men and at the same time do justice to the stockholders. President Calhoun was flat-footed in declaring that the limit of concession had been reached; that if the men went out, it would mean a permanent break with the union. They struck, however, depending upon the strength of pumbers, and the intolerance of unionism which has held San Francisco in its grip for many years, to win the fight. It was not a struggle for a just wage. That question had already been passed upon by the arbitration board composed of high-minded men. The outcome serves to prove how arbitrary and intolerant this labor organization had become, as the result of repeated raises in pay consequent upon strikes, or arbitration to avoid a strike. Calhoun realized that it was useless to stop the place for their demands, other than the complete surrender of the vast railroad system into their hands. He therefore heroically concluded that the issue must be squarely drawn—whether the company whose money was invested in the enterprise, or the carmen in its employ, should manage the property. Like any business man, he claimed the right to control his own affairs, and here resolved to do so at all hazards. Amid all the turmoil and bloodshed of this unfortunate strife, there in one character that rises out of the struggle far above the average—namely Calhoun. He stands out firm and undaunted as the advocate of property rights, and for a return to the reign of law and order, as opposed to mob violence. He knew the path he thus chose to take was strewn with danger and difficulties that might well appal the ordinary man. His course meant loss of business for a time, destruction of property, and probably violence at the hands of an incensed mob of strikers and their more frenzied sympathizers. But he deemed it the path of duty, the path of ultimate peace and safety, and therefore he unhesitatingly determined to walk therein.

One main fact brought into the limelight by the rioting and bloodshed in San Francisco is the crying need of a fearless and independent press in that distracted bleeding city. A firm stand in defending property and individual rights by an unbiased, fearless press would have done more for the upbuilding of San Francisco than a score of such so-called grafting prosecutions now in progress in that city. Even in this reign of terror, with bloodshed and lawlessness holding carnival, the press maintains an abject and compromising attitude. Of all the great dailies, the course of the Chronicle alone is worthy of the respect of right-thinking citizens. That paper proclaims that the paramount issue is, shall San Francisco be governed by the lawless violent element, or legal methods. Other sycophant journals are prating about the interests of the third party to the controversy, meaning the innocent public, whose right to travel by the street car route should cause all other questions to sink into insignificance. This is nothing less than an attempt to dodge the one overwhelming issue, and an endeavor to curry favor with the populace. It is a sacrifice of principle for expediency. It is contemptible in a grave crisis such as that now confronting the metropolis. Whether San Franciscans shall walk or ride to and from their daily work is of trifling moment compared to the vital questions whether an employer shall enjoy the privilege guaranteed by law of carrying on business without interference by a mob, and whether or not a man shall exercise the right of earning his living without first asking the permission of the labor unions.

The United Railroads corporation, through its able managers, believe the time has come when these questions must be settled, and settled rightly. Calhoun and his noble band of co-workers are blazing the way for a true and lasting settlement, and that too in face of a cringing, time-serving press, and as dispiriting a police force as can be found anywhere in the world. We believe the great pulsating heart of San Francisco is in sympathy with the street corporation in this fight. It need be, the whole federal army should be quartered in that city in defense of the vital principles at stake.

A Guaranteed Cure for Piles.
Itching, blind, bleeding, protruding piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if Pazo Ointment fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

There were two bids received by the board of supervisors this week for publishing the delinquent tax list—one from the Ledger and the other from the Dispatch office. Both bids were the same in price—20 cents per square for each and every insertion. This was a tie. It could not under the law be construed any other way. In such a case, the proper way would be to call for new proposals. To show any discrimination in favor of one bidder and against the other in such a case would be manifest unjust. And yet this is precisely what the board did, and that too by a unanimous vote. The contract was awarded to the Dispatch. What excuse, under the published proposals for bids they could find for such action we are at a loss to conceive. What is the use of calling for bids for anything, if the board claims the right to make a distinction when all bidders are on an equal footing as regards the price.

Miss Fullen has returned with a complete line of trimmed and ready-to-wear hats. Will handle them at Jackson Shoe Store.

A Peculiar Ruling.

A singular situation has developed in relation to the school census. It appears that in some districts it has been the custom to include in the census children living in foreign countries whose parents reside within the school district. Such children may never have been within the boundaries of the school district in which they are listed, and yet, because of the residence of the parents they are included just the same as children actually living with their parents in the school district. In one or two districts this method of enumeration has been adopted in years past. In a population like Amador, composed largely of foreign-born persons, there is a sufficient number of these non-resident children to make a material difference in the apportionment of school money. When the knowledge of the situation became known to the county superintendent of schools, W. H. Greenhaigh, he referred the matter to the state superintendent, Mr. Hiett. That official has answered to the effect that children of residents, even though actually living in Europe or some other foreign country, should be included in the school census; that the residence of the parents carries, for school census purposes, the residence of the children. This is a remarkable doctrine to lay down, but the county superintendent has to abide by the decision of his superior office. Of course it will benefit Amador county. In a number of school districts a new census will be ordered, so as to include these children. It was expected there would be a falling off in the number of census children in the county this year, but under this ruling the figures of last year will be maintained, with possibly a slight increase.

One main fact brought into the limelight by the rioting and bloodshed in San Francisco is the crying need of a fearless and independent press in that distracted bleeding city. A firm stand in defending property and individual rights by an unbiased, fearless press would have done more for the upbuilding of San Francisco than a score of such so-called grafting prosecutions now in progress in that city. Even in this reign of terror, with bloodshed and lawlessness holding carnival, the press maintains an abject and compromising attitude. SHEANDOAH VALLEY.
Mrs. Francis E. Moore for many years a resident of the valley, died in Placerville, April 20. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon from the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert Brown, of this place. The services were held in the school house by the Rev. John Appleton, of Plymouth. Many of her old neighbors attended, and a profusion of beautiful flowers were silent testimony of sorrow and sympathy. Francis E. Dillard was born in Little Rock, Arkansas, in 1841, but from childhood had lived in this state. She was married twice, her first husband dying many years ago, leaving one son, Caleb Ryan. In 1866 she married Wm. W. Moore, and until his death in 1902, they home was in the valley. Her other children are Mrs. M. B. Granger of Placerville, George F. Moore of Stockton, William J. Moore of Placerville and J. H. Moore of Kennedy Heights.

Though the low ground is still water-logged from the over abundant rains of winter, the farmers are anxiously looking for a good shower to render the high places fit to finish plowing.

Malarial troubles are rampant in the valley, and very few have escaped sickness in one form or another. Your correspondent must confess to being one of the unlucky ones.

Mrs. A. J. Crain was brought from Cedar Grove last week, suffering from a serious attack of malaria. She is improving now at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ball.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Mooney have been the guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Susan Crain.

Stephen Kane, of New York city, arrived in the valley Wednesday of last week, for a short visit to his aunt, Mrs. J. J. Davis. The young man had been a resident of Los Angeles for about eighteen months, but had never before met his California relatives. With Robert Davis, he visited T. D. Davis in Volcano Sunday, returning on Monday by way of Sutter Creek and Amador City, where they called on J. S. Davis. Mr. Kane left Wednesday morning for Sacramento for a visit to S. K. Davis before starting on his journey home.

Mrs. Bessie Vance and daughter, Miss Emma Wells, left last week for Lynmouth, having taken employment at Adams hotel.

G. W. Hall of Placerville, made a flying trip to the valley this week, coming Monday and returning to his home the next day.

Harvey Janssen has gone to Sacramento for a brief visit on business.

Ordinance No. 31.

An Ordinance Providing for the Formation and Government of a Volunteer Fire Department in and for the City of Jackson, Amador County, California, prohibiting Certain Things and Providing Penalties for the Violation of Certain Sections Thereof.

The Board of Trustees of the City of Jackson do ordain as follows:

Section 1. The Fire Department of the city of Jackson shall consist of volunteer companies of firemen, organized into such engine, hose or hook and ladder companies, as are allowed by law, and the certificate members thereof shall consist of such number of members as is now or may hereafter be allowed by law.

Section 2. Such Fire Department and such fire companies shall elect their own officers; provided, that in the election of any person as chief or such fire department, his election shall be forthwith certified to the secretary of said department to the Board of Trustees, and by them, at their next regular meeting, confirmed, and such chief shall give a bond to the President of the Board of Trustees of the city of Jackson, in the sum of One Thousand Dollars; and the chief of the fire department must inquire into the cause of every fire occurring in the city and keep a record thereof. He shall have exclusive control of the buildings of the fire department in time of conflagration or fire. He must aid in the enforcement of all fire ordinances duly enacted, examine buildings in process of erection, report violations of ordinances or neglect to the prevention and extinguishment of fires when directed by the proper authorities, and institute proceedings therefor, and shall have general control, management and direction of the fire companies of the city of Jackson, and shall perform such other duties as may be by the ordinances of said city, or by law, imposed upon him. His compensation is hereby fixed at the sum of ten dollars a month, payable monthly out of the City Treasury.

Section 3. Every certificate member of said department during time of fire, shall have the power of a policeman to make arrests in all cases connected therewith, unnecessary destruction of property, on interference with the duties of firemen, or other matters appertaining to peace and good order at fires.

Section 4. No fire apparatus, hose, tools or fire appliances of said department shall be used for other than the purposes unless with written consent of the Chief of the Fire Department. Any person violating the conditions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Section 5. Any person drawing or pushing any wagon, buggy, sled or vehicle, or other thing across any hose or section of hose, or driving or riding any horse, mule, cow or domestic animal across the same, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Section 6. Any person who shall ring or assist in ringing any fire bell in the city of Jackson other than for fire alarms, fire meetings or funeral tolling, unless with the written permission of the Chief of the Fire Department, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Section 7. Any person who shall open or leave open, except for ordinary household purposes, any fan or water cock directly or indirectly connected with the source whence the fire department derives its supply of water for extinguishing fires or who shall use or continue to use for irrigating purposes any water from any pipe so as aforesaid connected with said source of supply, from and after an alarm of fire, during any time the fire department is drawing upon such source of supply for the extinguishment of such fire, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Section 8. All misdemeanors named in this Ordinance shall upon conviction of the person committing the same be punishable by a fine of not exceeding twenty-five dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding twenty-five days or by both said fine and imprisonment.

Section 9. This ordinance shall be in full force as effect from and after its passage and publication.

Found Dead.

A. P. Thorn, for many years a deputy sheriff of Calaveras county under his brother, and later occupied the same position under sheriff Groves, was found dead at his residence in San Andreas last Wednesday. He was last seen alive Monday evening and in his usual spirits, and nothing by his acts gave his friends any hint that he contemplated suicide. It seems that he took a bath at his home on the evening in question, and placed all his clothing on a chair near the bed and after retiring took a dose of laudanum. His absence was not noticed until the Wednesday following, when on entering his house the body was found in bed. He was a pioneer of the state and about 70 years at the time of his death. He bore an excellent reputation; was a member of the Masons, and since retiring from office was engaged as secretary of his home lodge, as well as devoting clerical services to others, writing a hand of which anyone might be proud. While not an engineer it is related of him that so thoroughly was he posted on the topography of his home county—that "Thorn's map" of Calaveras county is used as a standard over maps prepared by regular surveyors. He was widely known throughout this part of the state and highly esteemed for his good qualities.

The Meeting for Fire Protection.

A meeting was held Tuesday evening in the rooms of the Jackson Social and Athletic Club, to make arrangements for the organization of a volunteer fire department, as an auxiliary of the city government. Notice of the meeting had been given for several days previous, by posting the time and place of meeting on the bulletin boards around town. Only members of the athletic club were supposed to take part in the proceedings. However, the membership is over 100, and includes a large number of the property holders of the town, so it was reasonable to expect that sufficient interest would be taken in the movement to insure a good attendance. In this expectation the movers were sorely disappointed. Only 13 members attended. Dr. A. M. Gall was selected as chairman.

John Garbarini, who was appointed a committee of one at a previous meeting to look into the matter, made his report.

He thereupon resigned, wishing to be relieved from further participation in the committee work. The resignation was not accepted.

As the attendance was so slim, it was decided to take no decisive action, and the matter was laid over until the next regular meeting of the club, which was yesterday evening.

Blue Rock Shooting.

The initial meeting of the Jackson gun club for practice at blue rocks was held near the baseball ground, beyond the Zeila mine last Sunday afternoon. There was a big gathering of the members on hand to participate in the sport, and a heavy attendance of spectators. The shooting was simply for practice no prizes were offered. Twenty-four marksmen engaged in the sport, and over 1000 shots were fired during the afternoon. Twenty-one scores were fired, six men in each, and firing ten shots each. Three clear scores were made during the day, two by C. Dalporto and one by P. Lepoly. The number of shots and the number of hits for each marksman was as follows:

Name.	Shots.	Hits.
C. Dalporto	90	78

Heavy Failure.

The dry goods and shoe store of J. McCutchen was attached by the San Francisco Board of Trade, representing the creditors in the city, on Wednesday morning. Sheriff Gregory closed both stores, the one in Webb building, and also the one recently opened in the premises formerly occupied by Max Ladar, and in charge of Fred McCutchen. The board of trade sent up an agent in the early part of the week to investigate the affairs, and secure some kind of settlement for the city creditors. The total liabilities are said to foot up fully $18,000 with assets estimated somewhat under those figures. Mr F. Epstein, representing the attaching creditors, and J. McCutchen, are now engaged in taking stock, which will not be completed for five or six days. In the meantime the stores remain closed to business, with A. J. Laverone in charge as keeper.

Whether the failure will eventuate in a petition to bankruptcy, or a compromise with the creditors, cannot be decided until after the stock-taking, and a meeting of the creditors is held to consider the matter. A large proportion of the claims are held by firms in the east, although the heaviest individual creditor is K. Webb, editor of the Ledger, and owner of the store building.

AN EXCITING BASEBALL GAME.

Professionals vs. Business Men.—A Drawn Game.

The most interesting game of baseball witnessed here for a long time was played on the local diamond last Sunday. A contest was arranged between a picked nine of persons engaged in professional life, and a nine composed exclusively of business men—those engaged in mercantile pursuits. The grounds are located in the old Meek field, just beyond the Zeila mine. The novelty of the affair drew an immense crowd to the grounds, and the entrance fee of 25c exacted from each spectator helped materially in swelling the coffers of the social and athletic club, for whose benefit the match was arranged. It was estimated that fully one thousand persons witnessed the match.

From beginning to end there was no lack of fun. There were three sources of merriment for the on-lookers. First, the wildness of the play; second, the closeness of the score; and lastly the rivalry engendered throughout the game. They were as thoroughly in earnest in their efforts to win although thousands of dollars depended upon the result. The contestants were all green at the business, and this afforded infinite amusement. All worked like Trojans, and the effect of their exertions has hardly disappeared yet. The playing was of the wildest nature. The number of runs made is sufficient evidence of this. The juvenile club boys think they could beat such play- ing easily—boys of from ten to fourteen years of age. A match between the youngsters and amateur business or professional men would be a great drawing card.

U. S. Gregory was announced to umpire the game. At the last moment George Vela, who is an expert player, and thoroughly posted on the rules of the game, was substituted in his place. He had his hands full in unraveling the knotty points that arose during the game.

The line up was as follows:
M. W. Ford catcher C. P. Vicini
F. Valvo pitcher C. A. Herrick
P. Poggi first base A. M. Gall
R. I. Kerr second base J. W. Caldwell
V. Kocco third base E. E. Endicott
F. W. Kuhser short stop C. W. Schacht
I. Prato left field H. Hayden
P. Cassiulli center field J. P. Wilson
J. Garbarini right field W. G. Snyder

The line-up as regards the position of the players was not adhered to. R. I. Kerr did most of the pitching for the business crew, while Dr. Endicott pitched for the professionals, with occasional reliefs.

Runs by Innings.
Business Men 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9—Totals Professionals 2 0 4 1 5 9 1 1 24
Earned runs—Professionals 5. First on balls Valvo 5. Endicott 3. Left on pitches—Endicott 1. First base on errors Prof. 5. Business 7. Two base hits—Ford 5. Prato 1. Struck out—Valvo 1. Endicott 2. Passed balls—Vicini 5. Ford 5. Hit by Pitcher—Gall, Valvo.

Scored—J. F. Podesta.

Memorial Service.
Sunday afternoon was set apart by the members of Ursula Parlor No. 1. N. D. G. W., for the observance of memorial day. Suitable exercises were held in Odd Fellows hall at 2 o'clock. The attendance was not large between thirty and forty being present. After the exercises in the hall the members proceeded to the cemetery, where the graves of deceased members were impressively decorated with flowers.

Probate Contest.
A contested probate case in the estate of W. H. Russell, a former resident of this county, is on trial before the superior court. Deceased died without making a will. The estate is reported to be valued at something like $1200. The public administrator applied for letters of administration. Thereafter Mrs E. Sinas, who claims to be a daughter of deceased, made application for letters. She was at the time of her father's death a resident of Blackwater, England. She came out here to look after her interest in the estate. The issues involved are 1st. Her claim of being the deceased's daughter and secondly, whether she is a qualified resident of the state to entitle her to letters.

W. J. McGee represents the public administrator, Geo. M. Huberty, and Mr Wochler of Oakland, is attorney for Mrs Sinas.

CITY TRUSTEES.
The board of city trustees met last evening, all members present.

Ordinance No. 31 was advanced to its second reading, and adopted by the following vote:

Ayes—Trustees Kirkwood, Penry, Lam, Leam and Garbarini.
Noes—None.

The agreement and bond of Green & Katto for street sprinkling, were approved by the board, and filed with the clerk.

It was decided to start street sprinkling by Monday, May 13.

It was decided to rent the canvas to the citizens of lone for their picnic on May 17, for the sum of $10. Adjourned.

Mr and Mrs Paul Guernard gave their son, Elmer, a party in honor of his sixteenth birthday at their home on Saturday evening. Mrs Guernard also invited a number of her friends for the evening, which was spent in social chat, while the young folks enjoyed themselves in playing games and singing. At a late hour dainty refreshments were served, at which all did ample justice, and the party broke up after wishing Elmer every appropriate congratulations.

Death of Jos. Levy.
Alfred Goldner received a message yesterday morning announcing that Joseph Levy, his brother-in-law, died in San Francisco that morning.

The sad news was unexpected, as no word had been previously received that he was seriously sick. A letter was received the day before stating that Mr Levy was not feeling well, but this did not cause alarm. It was said that he was able to attend to his business, and hence it was naturally concluded that there was nothing serious in his condition. The fatal illness must have come on him suddenly. He was engaged in the barber business in the city. Latterly, it is said, he inclined to stoutness, increasing in flesh greatly. It is thought that this had something to do with the fatal attack.

Deceased was a resident of Jackson for many years. He was a brother of Mrs Chas. Stekler, whose husband was one of the pioneer merchants of this town. He married a Miss Goldner of this city. His widow survives him, also one son, the issue of this marriage. For some years he was the senior partner in the firm of Levy & Kent, general merchants, conducting business in the premises now occupied by L. Glavinovich, at the corner of Court and Main streets.

He left here with his family about seventeen years ago, and most of the time since he has been in San Francisco, carrying on his barber business.

Clever Minstrels.
It was a packed house that greeted Mahara's Minstrels last evening at the Elk's Theater, and no show has given better all around satisfaction this season. It was a year ago that this organization visited Prescott, and it returns to us strengthened with new talent and presenting entirely new features of entertainment. Of the colored aggregations that visit the coast Richard & Pringle's Georgia Minstrels have in the past been considered the leaders, but Mahara's clever troupe is now the superior in several respects. George Taylor ranks as clever an end man; as the famous Billy Kersauds, and Jim Owsley, the other tumbler, is an original entertainer in his line.

The choruses were strong and melodious, the olio features were exceptionally good, especially the ground and lofty tumbling.

Mahara's Minstrels may feel assured of a hearty welcome if they include Prescott on their itinerary next year.

MINING NOTES.

Hazard.—Work on this claim was started two weeks ago. The property is located on the north bank of Rancheria creek, between the Bunker Hill and the Fremont mines. It is generally conceded to be on the line of the pay shoot now being worked in the adjoining claims. There is every reason to believe that it will prove as rich as its immediate neighbors. The property belongs to the Hayward estate. L. K. Pommstone, who has had much experience in working the mines of the mother lode, is superintending the operations. Last week the shaft had reached a depth of nearly twenty feet. The sinking is to be pushed ahead as fast as possible.

Operated upon for Appendicitis.
Jos. Sideman, who was committed to the county jail from lone on a misdemeanor charge, was taken to the hospital early this week for treatment for appendicitis. The county physician found that it was a case that demanded prompt action, and reported the matter to the board of supervisors for permission to hire a special nurse to take care of the patient. He telegraphed to the relatives in San Francisco for funds to pay for the extra nurse. Monday afternoon the operation was performed with the assistance of Dr. Gall. The verminiform appendix was entirely removed, being found in an advanced stage of disease. To have delayed the operation would probably have involved fatal consequences. The patient was getting along nicely at last reports.

Unclaimed Letters

In Jackson postoffice May 10, 1907.
Joe Coleman, Colombatte Dominie, Martin Crevildi, Lazo Gree, Grenville Marchetti.

For Sale.—A three-room house with two acres of land in lone; small orchard, with 3000 feet of water pipe, individual line, city water handy. Two wells on property. Also household goods, and three dozen chickens. For sale cheap. For further particulars apply to W. W. Carlie, lone, mar 1, tf

Broke His Back.

An Italian miner named Marsoni met with a serious accident in the South Eureka mine on Wednesday last. He was caught in a cave, a mass of debris striking him in the back, causing a fracture of the backbone about midway. He was carried to the Sierra Sanitarium as soon as possible, where he was operated upon. A number of fragments of bone were removed. He is reported to be getting along nicely. In this instance, the victim was not paralyzed below the point of fracture.

Ice cream at P. Cuneo's every day, commencing April 27.

Sunday School Picnic.

The annual M. E. Sunday school picnic was held Saturday afternoon on Shober hill. The children and patrons mustered fully one hundred strong, and a very pleasant time was passed. Racing for a small sum for children under six, also over six years, was indulged in, and awakened lively interest as well as creating lots of fun. A base ball game between the city proper juveniles and a South Jackson team was played, resulting in an easy victory for the Southerners. The little ones were liberally supplied with refreshments, and enjoyed the outing thoroughly.

There is no satisfaction keener than being dry and comfortable when out in the hardest storm.
